

Anti-Ragging Day

In a concerted effort to combat the pervasive issue of ragging and to underscore its detrimental impact on the student community, the J.C. Bose University of Science and Technology, YMCA, Faridabad, today marked the observance of Anti Ragging Day within its campus. This initiative is part of a broader campaign that aligns with the guidelines set forth by the University Grants Commission (UGC) and the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE), which mandate the celebration of ‘Anti Ragging Day’ on 12th August, followed by an ‘Anti Ragging Week’ from 12th to 18th August 2024.

The day’s activities were meticulously organized by the Centre for NCC of the University, with a focus on fostering a culture of respect and camaraderie among students. Vice-Chancellor Prof. Sushil Kumar Tomar lauded the efforts made to host an event that not only reinforces the University’s stance against ragging but also serves as a platform to educate students about the serious repercussions of engaging in such behavior. Prof. Tomar emphasized the importance of creating a safe and supportive environment for all students, where they can pursue their academic endeavors without fear of harassment or intimidation.

The highlight of the day was a series of interactive and engaging activities designed to raise awareness and promote a ragging-free campus. The NCC cadets of the Army and Naval wings of the University played a pivotal role in these initiatives, participating in a Poster Making competition that aimed to visually communicate the message against ragging. Additionally, an Anti Ragging Awareness Rally was organized within the University campus, drawing attention to the cause and encouraging students to stand united against any form of bullying or harassment.

Dr. O P Mishra, Incharge of Centre for NCC, along with S Lieutenant (Dr.) Krishan Verma, ANO, and Sh. Suresh Kumar, NCC Instructor, were instrumental in coordinating and successfully executing the event.
