The aim of the declamation session on the topic “Gig Economy – A Blessing or a Curse for Workers’ Rights” was to create awareness about the growing gig economy and its impact on workers. The session aimed to encourage students to critically analyze both the advantages, such as flexibility and employment opportunities, and the disadvantages, including lack of job security and employee benefits. It also sought to develop public speaking skills and promote thoughtful discussion on workers’ rights in the modern employment system. A total of 42 students of B.Com (H) enthusiastically participated in the competition.

The session witnessed enthusiastic participation from students, where each participant delivered an individual prepared speech on the topic “Gig Economy – A Blessing or a Curse for Workers’ Rights.” Students confidently presented their viewpoints with clarity and proper structure. The declamation reflected strong stage presence, effective voice modulation, and thoughtful expression. Participants incorporated relevant examples and practical insights to support their perspectives. The audience remained attentive throughout the session, creating a respectful and engaging academic environment.

Students demonstrated:

- Well-structured speeches with clear introduction, body, and conclusion.
- Strong understanding and command over the topic.
- Confidence, eye contact, and appropriate body language.
- Clarity of thought and logical flow of ideas.
- Ability to express their viewpoints with conviction and maturity.

The objective of conducting the declamation session on the topic “Gig Economy – A Blessing or a Curse for Workers’ Rights” was to provide them with an in-depth understanding of the changing nature of employment in the modern digital era. Through this session, students were introduced to the concept of the gig economy and how it differs from traditional employment systems. They gained clarity on how platform-based jobs, freelancing, ride-sharing services, and delivery-based work are reshaping the global workforce.

The declamation session concluded with the announcement of the results, appreciating the efforts and performances of all participants. The judge carefully evaluated the speeches based on content, clarity, confidence, and overall presentation. The first position was secured by Simran, followed by the second position jointly awarded to Khushi and Girisha, while Janvi secured the third position. The winners were congratulated and applauded for their outstanding performance. The session ended on a positive and motivating note, encouraging all students to continue participating in such academic activities to enhance their knowledge and communication skills.
