The primary objective of organizing this event was to provide students with a platform to enhance their public speaking skills and develop critical thinking abilities. The activity encouraged participants to analyze information, identify strengths and weaknesses in arguments, and present their view points in a logical and structured manner. It also helped students to think on their feet and respond effectively to different perspectives. By engaging in such discussions, students were exposed to diverse viewpoints, which broadened their understanding and promoted intellectual growth. The aim of the event was to make students more aware of current economic issues and improve their ability to express opinions confidently.

“Budget Pe Charcha” is an important academic initiative that focuses on discussing and analyzing the Union Budget after its presentation. Such discussions play a vital role in simplifying complex financial concepts and making them easier to understand for students. Through this discussion, participants gained insights into various aspects of the budget, including taxation policies, government expenditure, and economic development strategies. It also highlighted the role of the Union Budget as a key tool used by the government to outline its financial plans and priorities. The event emphasized the importance of such discussions in creating awareness among students about how government policies affect the economy and society as a whole.

The session witnessed enthusiastic participation from students, who were divided into groups representing different ministries like Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship, Ministry of Finance, Ministry of Defence, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare and others. The participants actively contributed to the discussion by presenting their views and analysis on various aspects of the budget. The session turned into a dynamic exchange of ideas, opinions, and perspectives, which significantly enhanced the understanding of students regarding the Union Budget. The group-based discussion encouraged teamwork, coordination, and effective communication among participants.

“Budget Pe Charcha” proved to be highly informative and successful event .It provided students with an excellent opportunity to understand and discuss the national budget in a practical and engaging manner. The discussion helped students become more aware of important aspects such as government expenditure, economic growth, and policy-making. It also enhanced their communication skills, confidence, and ability to think critically. Overall, the event was a valuable learning experience for all participants and contributed significantly to their academic and personal development

❖ Meenakshi and Vansh, first year B Com students were declared as the best speakers.
